

List of Figures

Fig. 1.1	Number of births in Germany, 1960–1997	14
Fig. 3.1	Transition to a first child, first-generation immigrants	100
Fig. 3.2	Transition to a first child, second-generation immigrants and West Germans	100
Fig. 3.3	Transition to a first child of first-generation immigrants by country of origin	101
Fig. 3.4	Transition to a first child of second-generation immigrants by country of origin	102
Fig. 3.5	Transition to a first child – baseline intensity	104
Fig. 3.6	Transition to a first child by time since arrival, relative risks – Models 1.2 and 1.3	105
Fig. 3.7	Transition to a first child by time since arrival, relative risks – Models 1.2, 1.3, and 1.5	110
Fig. 3.8	Transition to a second child, first- and second-generation immigrants and West Germans	114
Fig. 3.9	Transition to a second child of first-generation immigrants by country of origin	115
Fig. 3.10	Transition to a second child of second-generation immigrants by country of origin	116
Fig. 3.11	Transition to a second child – baseline intensity	116
Fig. 3.12	Transition to a third child, first- and second-generation immigrants and West Germans	124
Fig. 3.13	Transition to a third child of first-generation immigrants by country of origin	125
Fig. 3.14	Transition to a third child of second-generation immigrants by country of origin	126
Fig. 3.15	Transition to a third child – baseline intensity	127